WILLIAM COLLINS

638237 7th Devon Regiment

651 Agricultural Company, Labour Corps

(18 JULY 1876-1944)

William was born and brought up in Buckland St Mary, but probably because he moved away after leaving school, and did not return till later in life, his name was overlooked when it came to a listing on the Church Memorial Board. His nephew Wilfred Collins is recorded there, and now, in 2021, we have remembered his brother Simon. Unfortunately, we did not learn of William's existence until it was too late to include him in our main book, Vanished Lives. It is likely that others with a similar story will be brought to our notice in future and will then be added to this website.

William was one of the younger children in a family of ten, their births spread over twenty years – Mary the eldest was born in 1860, the youngest, Simon q.v., in 1882 and William himself in 1876. Their parents were Temperance, and Charles, a gamekeeper living at Grange Cottage on the Grange estate, just north of the Eagle Tavern,¹ off the A303. Some at least of the children went to Buckland St Mary school (some may have gone to Broadway), but somehow William's name has been left off the School Register – entered, and then crossed through, with different details of dates of birth and parentage added of (apparently) another William Collins, son of William of Ham. William was baptized in the Church at Buckland St Mary with four of his brothers and sisters on 2 June 1884.

By the time he was 14, in 1891, he was living with his older sister Emily and her husband John Board at Cricket Malherbie; John was a cowman, and William worked as a cowboy. The Board family had been neighbours of the Collins family at Grange Cottage, and earlier in Bishopswood, and John was an uncle of Frank, another WWI Survivor.

William may never have gone back to live at Grange Cottage, and the next time we meet him, in 1901, he is lodging at Orchard Street in Weston-super-Mare with his younger brother Simon and working as a Quarryman's labourer. The census was taken on the night of 31 March 1901. On 9 November he married Kate Amelia Dyer in Weston-super-Mare, though, oddly, in the details given on William's Army Service records it is recorded as Ilminster. She had been born in Cherington, near Shipston-on-Stour, Warwickshire and lived in villages in that locality, but by 1901 was working as a servant to a family in Weston-super-Mare.

The Church at Knowle St Giles, now a private residence.

They had six children: John in 1902, Ellen, Alice, Charles, Mildred and James in 1919. Their births are listed in William's Army Service documents, which gives us some idea where they were living at those times. John was born in Weston-super-Mare, but Ellen's birth in 1903 was described as in Ilminster, and she and John were baptized at nearby Knowle St Giles on 9 August 1903. It may be that they were living just up the road at Cricket Malherbie with William's sister Emily Board and her family. However, by the time Alice was born in 1906 they were back in the area near Weston, and probably living at the address which remains their principal one – Dutch Road, Mark, near Burnham-On-Sea.

That is an interesting road name, which hints at who may have been involved in land drainage on that part of the Somerset Levels. Unfortunately, we have not yet been able to unearth details of how it came to be used.

William's Army Service records survive, from which we have extracted the following information – but there are other coded references which we have not been able to decipher. (The papers are here on the website for you to inspect.)

William was called up in 1916, joining at Weston-super-Mare on 17 July 1916, when he was already over 40. He was classed as CII, to 'Labour at Home'. He had been sent to the 7th Battalion of the Devonshire Regiment, a Cyclist Battalion detailed for service in Home Defence. He was transferred to the Royal Defence Corps on 29 September 1916; on 22 June 1918 he was transferred to the Gloucestershire Regiment, and then finally to the Labour Corps in July 1918 – the 651 Agricultural Corps, based in Devizes. He was discharged into the Class Z Reserve on 12 February 1919, signing a form to say that 'I do not claim to be suffering from a disability due to my military service'.

When their youngest son James was born in 1919 his birth was registered in Axbridge, so the family had most likely remained in Mark. Unfortunately, as with so many of these men, a curtain is drawn across their existence after they leave the Army, and it is not until the 1939 Register that they emerge again. By then William and Kate had returned to Buckland St Mary, and were living at Brokenway, just off Hare Lane; the children have grown and gone, and William is working as a general labourer. He died in 1944 aged 68 and was buried at Buckland St Mary on 25 August.
